

Marine trade show attracts hundreds of people and showcases job opportunities

by Stella Shepard

The Prince Edward Island Fishermen's Association recently hosted a marine trade show in conjunction with their annual general meeting and conference. The trade show attracted 75 exhibitors from across the Maritimes, and more than 1,000 people visited the trade show in Charlottetown.

For more information about the Prince Edward Island Fishermen's Association, visit www.peifa.org

Some exhibitors and their hiring needs

Gaudet's Electrical Services Ltd./Master Marine Controls, Tignish

Master Marine Controls specializes in custom-made marine panels, engine dash plates, switch gear, and Kohler generators.

"We don't have strong hiring needs," says Chad Gaudet. "However, we offer on-the-job training to apprentices and students in the Holland College Industrial Electrical Technology program, which could lead to full-time employment."

"At the moment, we employ five apprentices and three Red Seal electricians and hire as needed at Gaudet's Electrical Services Ltd."

Gaudet's Electrical Services Ltd. has served clients since 1970. Chad has worked in the family business since 1992 and started MMC in 2001 as a part-time business. As of 2009, Chad has been the sole owner of both companies.

"I always love a challenge, which keeps us busy in residential, commercial, industrial, and marine industries."

For more information, contact Chad Gaudet at 902-882-2642. E-mail chadgaudet04@gmail.com Visit their Facebook page.

From left, Chad Gaudet, Owner, and Chad Pitre, Designer and Manufacturer.

Hydraulic Power Plus 2014 Inc., Cardigan.

The company has served the fishing, farming, and heavy equipment industry for four years, and is a commercial and industrial equipment and marine supplier. Daryl Bourgeois has 20 years of experience in the hydraulic industry.

"We currently have four staff," says Sheila Bourgeois. "We are busy and constantly growing the business, which serves the Maritime region."

"When hiring, we look for people who are able-bodied, self-motivated, able to take direction, and are mechanically inclined. We are willing to train staff to do hydraulic repairs."

"Our goal is to continue growing the business and continue going above and beyond the call of duty, which is the foundation of the success of the company."

For more information, contact Daryl and Sheila Bourgeois at 902-583-2278, email hydraulicpower2014@gmail.com, visit their Facebook page. If you meet the above criteria and are interested in obtaining employment, email or fax your resumé to 902-583-3876.

Sheila and Daryl Bourgeois, Co-Owners.

Edward Jones, Charlottetown

Edward Jones is a privately owned company that has assisted Canadians with a long-term approach to investing for more than 20 years. Edward Jones has been ranked by JD Power as number one in investor satisfaction for six years in a row.

"The company continually hires new recruits for employment in a financial advisory role," says Samuel. "When hiring, the company considers individuals who are willing to work hard and are passionate about building a rewarding career and making a difference in the lives of Canadians."

"Edward Jones will pay for your training and required license exams, and a dedicated team of firm experts will guide you in the study process."

"Besides training available throughout your career as a Financial Advisor, each Edward Jones financial advisor gets a firm-provided office, a Branch Office Administrator, and a generous compensation and benefits package."

For more information, visit www.edwardjones.ca

Samuel White, Financial Advisor.

White's Fabrication, Commercial Cross Road near Montague.

From left, Tyler Rose, Adam White, Andy White, Stephen Millar, Joey Collier, Pamela Martin, staff at White's Fabrication. Submitted photo

Co-owners and brothers Adam and Andy White have worked in the welding and fabrication trade for years. In 2015, they started their own company, with only themselves and a bookkeeper.

In the past four years, they have grown exponentially, hiring five more employees, hosting OJT students, and a building expansion. They primarily serve the fishing industry throughout the Maritimes, and provide an array of services to other industries, businesses, and home owners.

"We have eight staff and are hiring Red Seal welders at a competitive starting wage," says Adam White. "The best way to apply for positions is to contact us or drop by with a resumé."

For more information, contact Andy or Adam White at 902-838-3929, email whitefabrication@gmail.com Visit their Facebook page.

