

Summerside Job Fair brought together many employers looking to hire

by Gloria Welton

SkillsPEI organized a job fair to help job seekers connect with local employers. The following employers provided information on jobs they continue to need to fill. For more information about the many services, programs, and supports offered through SkillsPEI, call 1-877-491-4766. Visit www.skillsPEI.com

CareWorx, Summerside

Jobs: Level One Support and Developers who can be certified through CareWorx

CareWorx provides Level One IT support for businesses of all kinds across North America, and has specific expertise supporting hardware and mobile devices used by staff at senior care facilities. They also offer a full range of IT services, providing IT support in settings where that support is typically not available.

“We have also expanded into a program called Service Now, which is an ITSM (Information Technology Service Management) platform that helps companies create digital workflows,” says Patrick MacKay. “It is by far the number one tool of its kind in the world.”

There are over 90 staff members locally and more than 260 across Canada, and jobs are year-round. They continue to hire as the company expands, and are now looking to hire people interested in being trained as developers. Training is all in-house. “We are not necessarily looking for people with experience as developers but who have the aptitude and are interested in becoming certified in this field.”

Patrick has taken the development training offered by CareWorx. “I worked in IT support, service desk, and other customer support but I had never done development. This training helped me with the transition.”

Community Connections, Summerside

Jobs: They are hiring on a continuous basis for permanent and casual staff.

Community Connections provides a range of employment, residential, and support services to adults with intellectual disabilities in East Prince. They assist individuals to develop to their full potential, provide support to access and use community resources, and empower clients to contribute and participate in a meaningful way in their community.

“We have clients with diverse needs; therefore, we need staff with various skill sets,” says Diane Tucker. “Finding qualified staff is always a struggle for us. We are working to attract younger people to this field, and encourage them to study Human Services, or take a Bachelor of Psychology or Sociology.”

They also look for people with backgrounds and education as Community Support Workers, Resident Care Workers, Youth Workers, and Correctional Services to work in the residential locations.

“Our goal is to maintain staff for the long-term. We are unionized with a full benefit package, including a pension plan, medical and dental.”

There are about 95 staff members. “At least six long-term staff will be looking at retirement within the next two to five years. I have been working here for close to 40 years. I started as a front-line worker and moved to a supervisory role. My heart and soul is with this field, helping to enhance the lives of people who require these services.”

Slemon Park Corporation, Summerside area

Jobs: Hospitality positions such as Food and Beverage Servers, Cooks, Housekeeping and Front Desk staff. They also have an extensive property management services division which includes skilled trades such as Carpenters, Plumbing and Heating Technicians, Power Engineers, Heavy Equipment Mechanics, and Waste and Waste Water Technicians.

Operations include commercial and residential space with highly functional property management services. They also have a restaurant and catering services. A variety of seasonal, part-time and full-time year-round positions are available.

“We have 100+ employees currently and many of those positions have been held by employees for over 25 years, many of those in skilled trades,” says Crystal Lewis, Human Resources Manager.

“We know many employers are currently experiencing difficulty filling skilled trade positions. We are planning now for future retirements so that we experience no hardships.

“I train new kitchen staff, which has been very helpful, and proves to be the best way to support people to work here for the long-term,” says Lori Rice.

To apply, drop off a resumé to the location, or fill out an application.
